GRAYLING DRAWS GAYLORD FOR FIRST CLASH

Graylig high school's undefeated basket-tossers have a hard row to hoe in the District Basketball tournament that starts here tonight, continuing through Friday and Saturday, March 6 and 7.

This is the first time in the history of tournaments here that a Grayling team has drawn Gaylord for the first game. Every year that Mancelona has been in our tourney previous to this we have drawn them.

At 7:15 tonight a game is scheduled to bring Johannesburg and Vanderbilt together. During and Vanderbilt together whipped the season Vanderbilt whipped twice. Johann the season Vanderous

Roscommon is out for revenge for the defeat handed them last

The feature game of the evening is scheduled for 9:15. At that time the two teams to fight it out will be Grayling and Gaylord. The Northern Lights have turned back Makel's squad twice during the season. A nip and tuck battle was fought at Gaylord with the Cornell-coached team winners, 15-14. Then the Top O'Michigan boys came back for revenge only to be downed 2-12. Last year the homesters were victorious in two games also and were defeated by Gaylord in the tourney and this year they will be out there to settle for that.

Deer In Reservation

Five Stephenson live traps, five tagging crates, 12 shipping crates and five wooden hand sleds are being constructed at CCC Camp Higgins Lake, eight miles south of Grayling on US-27, and will be used on a project for live trapping, tagging and transfer of deer from the Crawford Came Refuge to other areas not plentifully populated with deer.

The project is being carried on in co-operation with the Game Division of the Department of Conservation for the purpose of studying migratory habits and condition of the deer as well as to stock other areas, according to chief foreman Andrew K. Braidwood. The equipment will be placed in deer-infested swamp reas early in March.

Butterfield Swamp on the west-side of Houghton Lake in Missaukee county, and the North Manistee River Swamp in Kalkaska county will be stocked with deer caught in the Crawford Refuge. It is hoped that 50 deer can be transferred to the former and twice that number to the latter area.

Six weeks time will be con-sumed in the operation. Junior enrollees in the camp will work on the project under Mr. Braid wood's direction.

M. S. Gerred, chief foreman of Camp Higgins Lake for the past year, has been succeeded by Mr. Braidwood. Mr. Gerred has been placed in charge of all Forest Land Survey work per-formed by Michigan Emergency Conservation Work camps.

Bachman Here Today.

Bachman is in town today meeting different groups and individuals between speeches. He talked Monday evening before a church organization in Lansing, l'uesday night he was in Chesaning, went back to East Lansing that same night, then came north over the ice and snow Wednesday. Last night he was in West club's men and boys' meeting. This morning he talked to 1,500 students at Central high school here, this noon he was a guest of the Bay City Kiwanis club at noon he returned to Central high to show motion pictures of State football games, and this evening moved back north to Standish to talk at a dinner meeting. He will return to East Lansing tonight, and Friday he has several engagements in Grand Rapids.

To the men he explained that their part in was to encourage the picture these characteristics in boys, to interest themselves in the welfare of the youthful athletes, and consider their teams representahave tive of the community as

Speaks at "Pep" Rally. The meeting, open to all Ogemaw county men and boys, attracted a throng to the town's house. After Bachman talked, he showed several reels of pictures. He was introduced Melvin E. Orr, president of the Kiwanis club.

At Central high this morning, the State mentor was principal speaker at a "pep" assembly designed to stimulate interest in Central's last game of the season Friday night with Saginaw East-ern here. Walter A. Olsen, director of athletics, was in charge of the meeting which school officials characterized as one of the most enthusiastic held at the school in several months. Bachman's talk was so well received that they insisted he return this afternoon.

Businessmen of Standish arranged the meeting there this evening. Olsen will accompany Bachman on this trip. As soon as the meeting closes, Bachman will push on homeward, check up on his various duties in the athletic department in the morning, then leave for Grand Rapids.

Between talks, meetings and appointments, it's up to Bachman to arrange schedules, direct football activities, handle reams of correspondence, see papermen, and in general, be a college football coach. That in mind, and as stated before, one wonders just what might be considered the busiest time of the year for a fellow in a position such as Bachman holds.

Public Opinion

Feb. 29, 1936.

Dear Editor: Did you ever see a brokenhearted child whose dog has just been poisoned? Standing there gazing down at his lifeless pet, for which he would gladly give up his own life. The faithful friend who followed him to school, who played and romped with him indoors on stormy. wintry days, and in other seasons hiked with his young master through the woods sniffing at every curious scent.

The faithful dog who willingly learned every trick his young master taught him.

But what hope now? The faithful pet has departed to the kingdom of dogs after a terrible agonizing death at the feet of his young master. Due to the viciousness of some person who cannot realize the love that existed between the lad and the pet.

The above is a true incident.

The child who is 11 years old, in his spare time ran errands and did small chores to earn enough money to pay his dog's tax before the city ordinance went into effect. And then on the very morning he was to buy the coveted license, his pet was taken from him.

Are the people going to stand by and watch this ruthless slaughter of their children's pets? In this case a dog tax would mean nothing, so why buy a dog tag? Is that a protection or is

He has been of-ficially deputized and has police power and his efforts toward enforcing the law may not be hampered without committing the serious offense of interfering with the duties of an officer. He is conscientious and is taking good care of the dogs that he has to pick up. These are kept at the old waterworks pump house, where they are properly fed and cared for. Dogs may be redeemed at any time within seven days by the owner purchasing a state and county license, at the cost of 50c each, together with 25c for each day the dog is impounded. If dogs are not reclaimed within seven days they are humanely disposed of.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes By JEAN NEWTON

OF COURSE LOVE WOULD END ALL EVIL

Doctor Fry. the secretary of the Lutheran Board of American Missions, said that in summing up his claim that all we need to solve the problems of unrest and misun-derstanding that confront the world today is the right relationship between people.

We have heard similar sounding thoughts enveloped in so many platitudes that we have come to sort of hearing them without listening, to pass them up without looking into them very deeply. The fact is, however, that the minister's proposal to end all the world's trouble by love is a very spectacular one. It is quite true that love would solve all the troubles in the world But it is not love of ourselves, of our own way, our own interests, love of gain or of things or of getting ourselves somewhere.

It is love of people-love of its own sake that could end all our troubles, all the world's troubles. For love is just naturally under standing, and where there is understanding, what more do we need? But the idea of twisting the course of human alms and desires and impulses into such a mold is more spectacular from the view point of the obstacles to be evercome than the most advanced pro-posals or dreams of the most radical moderns in any field of human endeavor. It is probably the least possible of any idealist's hopes or dreams. And yet it is not impossible. Some human beings have risen to these beights, and if some why not all? And the rewards it promises are so tremendous it would seem to be worth a trr.

Services to Nation Make Him a Presidential Possibility.

Oftentimes the people of this suntry refer to the government of the United States as "the biggest business in the world." It is increasingly so since the World war. Practically every lasue of couns quence affecting the welfare of the nation since 1930 has been either conomic or financial in character One has only to recall the legislafrom Washington during the past two years to realise to what extent the government has entered into the daily lives and business of all peo-

And yet-up to this timepeople of the United States have relied on office holders of reputation, politicians or military heroes to administer the office of President. They have never elected a business man to run the business of the United States.

In Frank Knoz, the Chicago pub lisher, the Republicans of Illinois who have unanimously made him their "favorite son" candidate for the Republican nomination for President of the United States this year, have sought to fill this aching balancer and a business builder, as his continuous success in business attests. They know he knows how to meet a payroll and has never had trouble with his employees, union or otherwise. They know he practices thrift and that his progress in life from a newsboy to the head of one of the larger metropolitan newspapers in the country has been achieved on savings, character and ability alone.

As a result, upon Frank Knox has been conferred the title of "public citizen." While never an office holder he has nevertheless been a student of and a contributor to government all his life. Backed by his newspaper he has helped elect good men to office and to de feat bad ones. He has been "backstage" of many public policies, na-tional, state and local, for which the office holders got all the credit Always on the progressive and liberal side of any issue, he has fought hard for fairness and equality for the farmer, for labor, racial and religious groups sufferng from discrimination, and for individuals who stood for good prin-

Knox was a child of depression He came to manhood in depression. He learned in other depressions of esser magnitude a few fundamentals of success; pay your debts; never spend more than you can don't make promises can't keep and keep the promises

He was born in Boston in 1874 when his country was doing a bad job recovering from the panic of 1873. His parents, sound Scotch-English folks, like their forebears, when confronted with an insurmountable obstacle, moved to Grand Rapids, Mich., when Frank was six years of age. At 11 years of age Knox was delivering newspapers for $3.75 a week. This was not enough to help the family. At 15 years of age he quit school to go to work and soon became a traveling salesman at $15 a week. The depression of 1893 cost him his job. At the urging of friends, including his pastor, he went to Alma College, Alma, Mich., and worked his way through doing any job that came to hand. There he met his future wife, Annie Reid.

Two months before graduation Spanish-American war broke out. Knox enlisted as a private and took twenty of his college mates into the army with him. on leave attending the funeral of a relative, the Michigan regiment was filled up and Knox arrived in Tampa, Fla., in uniform but without definite assignment to any outfit. There he met Lieut. David M. Goodrich, former Harvard carsman who introduced him to Theodore Roosevelt. The colonel looked hin over carefully, asked him if he would care to join the Rough Riders and personally administered the oath of a soldier to Knox.

Trooper Knox returned to Gran Rapids to find himself face to face with the newspaper business. During his absence, many of his letters to his mother, setting forth mign, had been published in the neal newspapers.

"You have a nose for news. Pil put you on at $10 a week," said one of the editors.

Thus Frank Knox found the preression which was to be his life work. On his meager salary, he married Annie Reid, "the girl be left behind him" when he marched off to war. In three years he he came city editor and circulation manager of the paper. Then, with $500 as capital, another the f horrowed money, and a partner John A. Muchling, with a like amount, he hought the Sault Ste.

Vinrie, Mich., News.
In ten years on that job Knex "cleaned" up one of the toughest friwns in the country, helped nea-inate and elect Close Osborn, one of the first of the old programme evelt, for President. At the mion of that campaign he sold criticission of that campaign he sold his Michigan paper at a handsome profit and, prompted by the urging of Gov. Robert Bask, snoth greater governor, with his old part-ner Muchling he bought the Man-chaster, H. H. Londer, This he combined with another local paper, and, together, they still own and operate the Union-Leader, two of the progressive newspapers of New England.

Always constructive, always lo ing for some way in which to make things better, Publisher Knox became aware of the difficulties in which agriculture and industry were finding themselves in the New England states. It was his idea states should act as a unit and to that end he took a leading part in forming the New England Council, one of the country's outstanding examples of co-operation by a large group. It has survived econor stress and successfully fought of dictatorship from Washington. Over-age for the draft, able to command influence if he wanted an officer's commission or a softer berth, Frank Knox enlisted as a "buck private" in the New Hampshire militia in 1917 when the United States became involved in the World War. No militarist, but a profound patriot when his country needed men, Knox, qualified by his previous service in Cuba, quickly found himself in an officer's training camp over his protest. He served throughout the war with the artillery train of the 78th division, participating in the St. Mibiel and Argonne campaigns. He came home impaired, although it was believed for weeks that an unexpected discharge of artillery had deafened him for life. The first day home he reported for work in a long-tailed coat, all he had saved from his "civvies" before going to war a second time.

Knox's success in New Hampshire attracted the attention of Publisher William Randolph Hearst. When invited by Mr. Hearst to take charge of his Boston papers, Knox, who was in no sense a candidate for the job, fixed what he regarded as a prohibitive price on his services. To his astonishment, Mr. Hearst agreed and Knox ran the papers for a year with such success that he was tendered the general managership of the entire Hearst chain of papers. In that job Knox applied the same general rules of budget balancing and editorial integrity which he had followed all

Once again, Knox found himself traveling the length and breadth of the land, acquiring and applying a knowledge of local affairs, section al interests and meeting the leading husiness men, statesmen and noliticians everywhere. When he retired from this post in 1928 he expected to settle down in Manchester with his wife in a new home especially adopted in design and site to a troublesome throat ailment from which Mrs. Knox had suffered for several years. But Knox found he was not the kind of a man who can retire until the last horn is blown

In 1929 Walter A. Strong, publisher of The Chicago Daily News, anddenly died. The newspaper was an institution in the city of Chicago devoted to the public service, independent, read and believed in by the citizens of that city.

Knox, without enough money of his own to buy such an expensive property, came into the picture with Theodore T. Ellis, a successful manufacturer of press accessories It was sold to them after the executors and directors had canvassed the country for a man of character eligible to conduct a newspaper on the high standards it had acquired. The principal editors and publishers of the country individually as sured all inquirers that in Knox the right man for the job had been found.

Knox has run The Chicago Daily News on the same principles that made him successful at the Soo and in Manchester. He has stood man fully behind the forces of law and order which have brought the under world in Chicago to its knees same old fight he fought at Sault Ste. Marie in his earlier days. His campaign for a new political con-science, in which courage and common honesty stand out as its chief characteristics, is showing results. He has improved the financial position of his newspaper, retiring in the first four years, over $4,000,000 in bonds and preferred stock. This, too; is a throwback on his life-long ability to balance budgets, save money and, at the same time, give quality service.

He has continuously fought the "New Deal" as contrary to some of the things he found to be fur montal American principles: Yes pay your debts; you don't spend more than you earn; you make no promine you cannot keep; you keep hoe you cannot keep; you keep the promises yes make, and yes tell the truth unsparingly about things as they are.

Illinois Republicans agree with Knox and believe in him. They think he is the type best suited to propert day stoods—a business man with a unicommun's viewpoint and experience; a Fresh, up-to-date "public citizen" (pily qualified to apply the housely virtues and fun-

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes By JEAN NEWTON

LET US LAY OUR GHOSTS

Two women passing a cemetery late at night were scared out of their wits by the appearance of a ghost.

When they could run no further, they told a policeman.

The ghost turned out to be an old negro in white overalls, who, after drinking too much moonshine, found himself in a cemetery. He was try-ing to climb over a wall and get out when the women saw him.

Incredible, isn't it, that in this en lightened age anyone should still be prey to fears and superstitions that deny the evidence of one's ears and eyes and paralyze one's power of reasoning?

And yet that ghost was a very real, tangible, terrible danger com pared to some of the myths and cobwebs of imagination upon which rest fears which complicate the lives of many of us!

Fear of the thing we do not know simply because we do not know it. That is perhaps the most devastating of them all. For there are so many things we do not know, so much every day in this world that is new, that those of us who fear what we do not understand are likely to be running a constant race with ghosts. What a pity when we realize that just the slightest approach would have revealed the harmlessness of the "ghost."

And those poeple who are different from us—that old superstition that because they are different they are bad, or dangerous. What an unlucky idea that, for one of us marooned in a strange country. And how those people who are "different," approached with the slightest interest and open-mindedness, usually turn out to be just "people" after all. And more, how much they can often teach us. Let us lay our ghosts.

"Pop, what is patience?" "The Sphinx." Bell Syndicate.---WNU Service Invention of Lithography

The inventor of lithography was Alois Senefelder (1771-1834). He was a Bavarian actor and dramatist. Not oversuccessful, he tried to be his own printer and publisher, to that end experimenting with metal plates, Solemhofen stone, acids and inks. His mother asked him one day to write her laundry list. Paper not being convenient, he wrote it with his greasy ink on a smooth stone upon which he practiced writing in reverse. Later, instead of cleaning of the writing, he tried etching the stone and pulling a proof. What resulted was his discovery of relief engraving on stone. Subsequent experiments led stone. Growers Urged To Spend Ten Minutes Per Week On Simple One-Page Cost System.

Ten minutes a week may make the difference between profit and loss for Michigan potato growers says County Agent Arthur Glid-

A simple one-page form now available has been prepared by K. T. Wright, of the farm management department, Michigan State College, East Lansing, which reveals at a glance whether a farmer is due to make or lose money on his potato crop.

Since the 1935 crop in the state was close to twenty-five million bushels valued at $12,500,000, the importance of such a form is Experienced farmers can place their fingers on weak spots in their production practices immediately, Mr. Wright says.

"Because of low prices Michigan farmers attempted false economies," the farm management expert points out. ### Census Farm Inventory Shows Gains In Crawford County.

Gains in most of the important farm items are shown for Crawford County, by the figures of the preliminary report of the 1935 Agricultural Census released to-day by Director W. L. Austin of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

The number of farms was 157 in 1935, or 41 more than in 1930 Of these farms 123 were operated by owners, 4 by managers, and 30 by tenants. With the increase in farms, the value of farm land and buildings was almost as large in 1935 as in 1930. However, the average value of land and buildings per acre fell from $21.47 to $17.63.

The 201 horses reported on January 1, 1935 represent an increase of 22 over the number on April 1, 1930. Cows increased 300 with 736 being enumerated in 1935. Cattle, including cows, increased from 792 to 1,191.

Crops were harvested from about 800 more acres in 1934 than in 1929. Increases occurred in the acreages of corn, wheat, barley, Irish potatoes, and hay. Corn increased about 500 acres, hay 400 acres, and Irish potatoes 100

Final figures for Crawford County are to be presented in a State bulletin for Michigan. A small charge will be made for the against an income of $41.16. This State bulletin, which may be did not include marketing costs. secured from the Superintendent

Knox Versatile Out-of-Door Man

Business Man, Editor, Party Worker Keeps Fit as He Works Hard.

In Frank Knox, the Chicago publisher, Illinois Republicans, who have unanimously indorsed him for the Republican nomination for Pres ident, have offered to the country the most versatile man in public life since Theodore Roosevelt. Unlike Roosevelt, however, Frank Knox has had an outstanding business and professional career and has never held public office. He is ness men in the newspaper bustness. As an editor, his editorials have revealed an intelligent, alert vigorous personality which have made him a public figure.

While engaged in making a suc eas of his newspapers, Knox has achieved distinction in many other directions. He made an enviable record as a volunteer soldier in two wars. He has been in politics for thirty years, serving as pre-cinct worker, state chairman, national convention floor leader for a Presidential candidate and has stumped two-thirds of the Union for national, congressional and state candidates.

On business, financial, economic social welfare and political issues, Knox has always been on the liberal and progressive side of the argument. His public record of battles against monopoly, for social justice, for the betterment of farm and labor conditions and against un-American, coercive policies, fully attest this fact. In all his endeavors he has manifested vision and vigor as well as a keen sense of moral and spiritual values.

Knox plays as he works, and it is in his out-of-doors life that he has shown a versatility even greater than that of Theodore Roosevelt. Knox has not only been a hunter and a fisherman, but has paddled his own canoe through most of the rapids of the upper Great Lakes. He has driven his own pack train over the plains and mountains of half a dozen western states, ridden horseback ovethe mountains of New England and has followed a "chuck-wagon" and helped the Apaches in their fall round-up. He has visited every Indian reservation in the country. Knox can sail a boat, run a launc or automobile. He was an early the toboggan and is an expert swimmer. Nowadays he packs a beavy bag of golf clubs and has used them on links in all parts of the country.

Early in his married life Mr. and Mrs. Knox explored the Great Lakes and Hudson Bay country Moose and deer, trout and the "musky" fell before their prowess with rifle and rod, Mrs. Knox proving an expert fly-fisherman. From his log cabin home on the St. Mary's Knox went to work or to cruise in his launch, sailboat or canoe. There he learned the ice and snow sports. In New Enghe added horseback to his accomplishments. As a member of the Board of Indian Commissioners he made his vacations riding expeditions to the out-of-the way Indian reservations with Mrs Knox. They studied the Indians and took steps in Washington to remedy their living conditions, an interest they still continue.

While engaged in this work, Knox cleared the Montana range of 30,000 useless wild horses which were canned and sent to Japan. In their place he had the army remount service send blooded stallions to be bred with the rugged cow and Indian popies of the Northwest The result has been better mounts for the army and better horses for Alligators Native to New World Except for a branch of the alligator family in China (with members about six feet long) all known alligators are native to the New world. They are found in the south eastern part of the United States chiefly in Florida, but also in Georgia and the Carolinas. They also live in tropical parts of South America.

Studying New Legal and Economic Conditions Affecting Bank Management

STRESS PUBLIC OPINION

American Bankara Association Sponsor of Meetings as Part of Nationwide Program of Banking Development

PHILADELPHIA. Fifteen hun dred bankers from fifteen eastern states met here in January in a two day conference devoted to discus sions on legislative, managerial, op erating and public relations prob lems of the banking business. This was the first of a series of meetings planned by the American Bankers Association in its nationwide pro gram of banking development un der the leadership of Robert V Fleming, president of the associa tion. Similar conferences will be held in southern and western sec tions of the country.

"It is the purpose of these working conferences to bring to association members and other bankers s thorough knowledge of the change in banking laws and rules, provide discussion of better public relations so that there shall be greater co operation and understanding be tween the banker and his customers and to give opportunity for a survey of the problems incident to the Gov ernment's competition with our chartered institutions." he said.

To Help Government Ouit Banking The discussions at the conference showed that the bankers are ready to make it easier for the Govern ment to relinquish many of its emergency financial services as soon as possible by demonstrating how their institutions are able to render full banking facilities.

Bankers generally have recog nized that in times of emergency the Government had to come to the assistance of the people where chartered institutions were unabl to do so on account of such condi tions, Mr. Fleming said. They also realize that possibly many functions which the Government is perform ing are of a nature which cannot be handled by chartered institutions under fundamental principles of sound banking.

On the other hand, he said, "we should survey all emergency lend ing measures of the Government to judge which of these activities can be properly and soundly taken over by banks."

The attending bankers devoted time to considering the Banking Act of 1935 and the many related regulations and discretionary pow ers under the Federal law. These were explained by O. Howard Wolfe of Philadelphia, who said he had found there are forty-eight places in the act where provision is made for discretionary power to be exercised by government officials through rule or regulation.

Bank taxation was discussed by Charles H. Mylander of Columbus Ohio, who declared that "the aver age American is vitally interested in taxation of banks because sol vency may depend to a large degree upon the way in which the taxing power is exercised upon them."

To prove his point he cited earn ings figures which showed that, in the year ended June 30, 1934, "for the United States as a whole, na tional banks used $14.89 out of each $100 of net operating earnings, be fore taxes, in payment of taxes; but in seven of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts the percentage of earnings used for taxes was above the average. It was in practically these same seven districts that the greatest number of bank failures

As an example of how far taxation can go, he quoted official figures showing that in 1934 a large number of small state banks paid on the average $34.20 of every $100 of op erating profits for taxes. Mr. My lander urged that there be "brought home to the average American the self-evident truth that banks, deal ing as they do only in intangible property, are not proper subjects for property taxation; that the true measure of a bank's ability to pay taxes is the earnings it can make.

WHEN BANK CROOKS SHOW PREFERENCES

The American Bankers Associa tion reports that non-member banks suffer twice the percentage of bur glaries and hold-up robberies as compared with members. Member banks display a sign showing that they receive the protection of the association's detective agents, who cause the arrest of from 150 to 400 bank crooks every year, the or ganisation, which is a non-profit body, says.
"Professional criminals often boast of having sense enough to dodge the far-reaching system of man hunting available to members so long as there are other banks without this protection," it says "They recognise that once on the record of the Association's Protec tive Department, they must pay for every crime with which they can be identified. Detainer warrants have followed them from place to place so that penal servitude for one orime would not expiate other offences."

Manager H. B. Lynn of the Michigan Public Service Co. has resigned that position and Mr. R. H. Fredberg has been appointed to succeed him. Mr. Lynn has been manager for this branch of the Company for only a few months and during that time has made many friends who regret his leaving. Mr. Fredberg was stationed with the Company at Whitehall. He is a young man but, like the general personnel of the Company, seems to be energetic and sincere in his work. Both men were in Grayling Tuesday calling at local business places.

The Kiwanis club is sponsoring a men's glee club, with Mrs. Clarence Clippert as director. They had their first rehearsal Wednesday evening at Shoppenagons Inn, with fifteen present and got away to a good start. The next rehearsal will be next Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the same place. Anyone able to sing is invited to join the club. It is expected that there will be at least thirty to forty men in the club. This is a feature that Grayling has long needed. Besides being a lot of fun for the members, the club will soon be preserved to give the public some good vocal music. The Kiwanis club is sponsor

INTERESTING LETTER FROM W. E. SLAVEN, ET AL.

San Francisco, Calif., February 21, 1936.

Dear Mr. Schumann: May I take this opportunity of thanking you and Mr. Arthur

Burrows for keeping me in contact with Grayling news. Believe me when I say; it has been a great pleasure of receiving the Grayling Avalanche through Arthur Burrows of Emeryville, California. I have been in close contact with all winter sports and Grayling news. I wish to take this opportunity, in behalf of my friends of Oakland, California, to compliment your choice of queen of Winter Sports and I wish to extend at this time our sincere congratulations to last year's queen and the year before. May I add to what I have said, that it has been a great thrill in my life to see the gang put it over bigger and bet-claim Grayling as their home-town. Leaving California on the twenty-third, we expect to arrive in Detroit on the first of March. We expect to be in Grayling the following week, that of course depends on the traveling conditions. We are taking, as it is called, the extreme southern route which includes the following stops: From San Francisco to Los Angeles; to Phoenix, Arizona; to El Paso, Texas; to Fortworth; to Shreveport; to Jackson, Mississippi; to Burmingham, Louisiana; to Nashville, Tennessee; to Louisville, Kentucky; to Cincinnati, Ohio; to Toledo and then to Detroit, then to the last stop, Grayling.

We have had lots of fun following the winter-sports thruout the year. We have seen the China Clipper go out and have seen the battleships in the harbor; we have seen the San Francisco-Oakland and Golden-Gate bridges, which are now under construction, but we are homesick for Grayling, no matter how small it may be, so here we come thirty-eight hundred miles of the way!

Sincerely yours,

W. E. Slaven. Gertrude Slaven, and

In naming the various county winners, the Association com-mended the teachers for instigating interest among children in the anti-tuberculosis program.

"They who are children today can clinch the victory over tub-erculosis," Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the As-sociation, declared. "If they learn to avoid the disease while they are yet young, then we can be reasonably sure that they will be free from tuberculosis in the now dangerous 15 to 45 age span. And the sale of Christmas seals is perhaps the best way of awakening a child's interest in the prevention of tuberculosis.

"And for this reason the Association is much indebted, only to the teachers whose schools won awards, but to every one of the hundreds of teachers who cooperated.'

We are very anxious to learn just what slight-of-hand method is being practiced by "Ducky" Pond in his lunch-snatching campaign.
